Cheer up Sad Heart.

BY O. S. CAR.

Oh, bright is the day, yet sad is my feelings
Clear is the sky, with no dark cloud revealing,
Oh, when sad heart, will you cease your repining?
And like the clear heaven, have a bright silvery lining.
Cheer up my sad heart, and feel not oppressed,
God worketh together, all things for the best.

And if he thus wills it, you surely can bear,
For he gives to no mortal, more than his share,
As for these light afflictions, they are but for a day,
And soon brightness will chase the dull sorrow away.
Then cheer up my heart, and your dulness dispel,
And remember that God, doeth all things well.

Will soon be made yours by the hand of the giver,
Bright angels will beck thee away from the shore,
Sad heart thy repining will be then no more.
Then praise Him who gave it and cease then to sob,
Contented forever in the home of thy God.

Selected Story.

"I Cannot Afford It."

Mr. St. John entered the fashionable dry goods store of "Lovering & Brothers," to see one of the proprietors. He had stepped out for a moment, one of the clerks informed him.

And withdrawing to an obscure corner, he stood watching with a half amused half comical look upon his handsome face, the streams of gaily attired women that floated past him, gazing with envious and admiring eyes upon the rich fabrics of every hue and texture, that were suspended from the ceilings and spread upon the broad counters.

Many of them were known to him, but he was in no mood to meet the sparkling glances and gay sallies that he knew would be showered upon him if he made them aware of his presence; for Mr. St. John was rich, and a bachelor, and had been so flattered and deceived by ambitious mammas with marriageable daughters as to make him almost resolve to always remain one.

So he stood back in the shadow, marking with curious eye unconscious betrayals of the natural disposition, like glimpses of feminine human nature, and which the dear creatures would not have had him observe for the world.

As he stood there two Misses Parker came in, charming and brilliant girls, in whose society he had passed many a pleasant hour.

They were lavish in their purchases, and as Mr. St. John contrasted their smiling countenances with the careworn face of their father, whom he met in the street scarcely an hour before, hurrying from one friend to another to borrow money to pay a note on the point of being protested, their lively chatter jarred harshly on his ears.

"Isn't it lovely?" exclaimed one of the sisters, holding up some costly trimmings. "I suppose pa will scold when he sees the bill; but so he would if it were only half as large."

"To be sure he would," responded the other.

"And I'm not going to let the Dayton girls outshine me, you may be certain. It is my belief they gave that party simply on account of St. John's return from Europe. I suppose they are trying to catch him for Georgiana. Did you ever hear anything so ridiculous?"

"Never! Such horrid taste as the girl has in dress, too! She showed me the new silk she is going to wear. Would you believe it, it is blue? And she as dark as an Indian."

"That is for the benefit of Mr. St. John; it is his favorite color. I met him on the street yesterday. How tall and handsome he has grown!"

"Yes, and so rich! Pa says he is worth half a million, if not more."

Here the two girls passed along out of sight and hearing, quite unconscious of the proximity of the subject of their remarks.

"Good heavens!" was Mr. St. John's inward reflection; "are all women so heartless, so wrapt up in vanity and display?"

He was about to leave the store in disgust, when his attention was arrested by a low, gentle voice, which raised a host of vague but pleasant recollections. He turned eagerly in the direction whence it came, and his eyes rested upon a slender, neatly attired lady; they lighted up with pleasure.

A woman would have noticed that the bonnet, though neat and fresh, was not of the latest stile, and the mantle of last season's fassion; but men rarely observe such things. All that St. John saw was the graceful form and fair and gentle face of the wearer.

"Sweet Rose Lennox!" he thought, "she looks as lovely and fragrant as her name! Can her fresh and guileless nature be so perverted as to care for nothing but outward show?

In meantime Rose made a few simple purchases, quite unconscious of the eyes that were following her every motion.

"Is that all Miss Lenox?" said the clerk.

"All, to-day."

"If you are thinking of getting a dress I will show you something that will suit you."

"As I cannot purchase, I will not trouble you," was the low and quiet reply.

"No trouble at all Miss," said the clerk, unrolling the goods, and spreading it out on the counter.

It was a heavy, lustrous silk—brown with a glint of gold in it, not unlike the color of the soft hair that shaded her forehead.

It caught the eye of the Parker girls, who were passing and they gathered eagerly around it.

"It's just the sweetest thing I ever saw," said the oldest, enthusiastically.

"Why don't you get it Rose? You have nothing for the party next Thursday, and it's just what you want."

"Only four dollars a yard," suggested the clerk, gathering up the heavy folds so as to display its luster and beauty.

There was not the slightest touch of envy or regret in the soft blue eyes that rested odmiringly upon it.

"It is very pretty and quite reasonable, but I CANNOT AFFORD IT."

These words, spoken so quietly, and with such an unconsciousness that she was admitting anything painful or humiliating, and with the wonder it aroused in the hearts of her companions was mingled an involuntary respect, though it was conduct they could not have imagined, and but vaguely comprehended.

St. John made inquiries in regard to Mr. Lennox the next day, and learned, that he had sustained some heavy losses, but was still supposed to be doing a great business.

Presuming on former acquaintance he resolved to call at his house.

Despite the adulation he had received and his really personal advantages, St. John was no coxcomb, and well knew that with a girl like Rose Lennox he must stand on his own individual merits, not venturing to call for her who was uppermost in his thoughts, he was shown into the family sitting-room, where Mr. and Mrs. Lennox sat with their oldest children.

Rose was among them and the blush that mounted to her cheek, the bright smile that she gave him, as their eyes met, spoke a warmer welcome than even a father's extended hand and cordial greeting.

But having gratified her loving heart, rather than world her pleasure at seeing him, Rose left the entertainment to her parents, and, disappointed as St. John was, he could not but admire her utter unconsciousness that his visit was intended for her, and absence of all desire to attract his notice. As he talked with her father, his eyes wandering to the place where she sat sewing; noting every expression of the pure, young face, even to the quiver of the golden-brown lashes that shaded the rose-tinted cheeks, especially the sweet, womanly charm of her low, quiet tones, and gentle movements.

The richest party robe never looked half so lovely as that simple home-dress of brown merino, worn with no ornament, save a dainty ruffle at the wrist and throat.

"You will be at Mrs. Dayton's to-morrow evening?" he contrived to say, as he took his leave.

"No, I am not going!"

A shade of disappointment crossed St. John's face, almost immediately followed by a gleam of satisfaction as a happy thought struck him.

The next evening Rose was sitting in the parlor, quite by herself.

Her mother was up stairs with the younger children, and her father preparing to go out. Mr. Lennox looked in upon her a moment as he passed through the hall.

"Do you regret your decision in regard to the party, my daughter?"

"No, indeed," returned Rose, smiling into the careworn face.

Mr. Lennox laid his hand lovingly on her head. "My blessing! if a pass successfully through this crisis it will be owing to the strength you have given me."

"Are things looking any brighter, papa?"

"A great deal brighter, my child. You know I told you I could retrieve my losses if I had time. Mr. Hart, my principal creditor, has offered to give me six months. It was owing to something Mr. St. John said to him. He is a noble hearted young man. God bless him."

The heart of Rose echoed this wish as her father hurried away. For the first time regrets mingled with her thoughts, as she reverted to the gay gathering from which she was debarred.

"A gentleman to see Miss Rose," said Katy, opening the door.

Rose lifted her eyes and the object of her thoughts stood before her.

"Not sorry to see me I hope?" said St. John, taking her unresisting hand in his.

"Sorry?" Rose turned her eyes pround that he might not see how softly radiant they were. "Oh, no," she faltered; "I—I was only surprised. I thought you would be sure to be at Mrs. Dayton's this evening."

"Shall I tell you why I did not go?" inquired Mr. St. John, as he took a seat by her side.

The cheek of Rose grew as red beneath that earnest gaze as the flower for which she was named.

"I was just thinking about you, and wishing that I could thank you for the kindly office you performed for my dear father."

"I am going to ask him to perform for me a far more kindly one; to give to my keeping the brightest and sweetest rose that ever bloomed. When he asks me what your wish is, oh, Rose—if I could only say my Rose—what shall I tell him?"

What Rose told could be easily inferred by one who looked in upon the two a few minutes later, and saw how quietly the head of Rose reposed upon St. John's shoulder, as though it were the most natural resting-place it could find.

Rose was as modest as lovely.

"I don't see how you came to choose me, Paul, when surrounded by so many brilliant women."

"Who would so gladly do their best to dissipate my fine fortune," returned St. John, laughing.

He then told Rose of the little scene he had witnessed in the store of "Lovering & Brothers," and he had resolved then and there to do his best to win her, who, when tempted to expenditures beyond her means, had the strength of mind to say:—"I CANNOT AFFORD IT."

Miscellaneous.

Roughing It.

A few evenings since a Detroit chap was sparking a West-Side girl who wore an Elizabethan ruff. Expecting his coming, she had dressed for the occasion, and her ruff, stiffas an unrestricted use of satin gloss could make it, was of the most stunning character. The lover came at the orthodox time, and was ushered into the parlor, where the enchanting maiden and her father and mother were seated. He was cordially received and the evening passed pleasantly, although the old folks sat up longer than the youngsters thought necessary. Finally they went to bed and the twain were left alone. After a certain amount of preliminary bashfulness, the maiden assented to her lover's request for a kiss. He essayed to take it but was met at every point by a bristling wall of tarlatan and starch. He came up to her in front, and was gouged in each eye. He sidled up to her and the right-hand prong cut one of his ears half off. He attempted to reach the prize over her shoulder, and a chevaux de frise of lace tickled his nose till he was obliged to take a seat and sneeze. Then the maiden came to the rescue, and held down one side of the provoking ruff, and again the lover advanced. Just as he had all but reached her blooming cheek, the damsel lost her grip, and the razor-like decoration flew up with a force that took an "under bit out of his right ear." Then they both got mad, and an anticipated wedding has come to a premature end.

The Party and the Panic.

VIEWS OF SENATOR SHERMAN, OF OHIO—GREENBACKS AND GOLD.

In his speech at a late Republican rally in Cincinnati, Senator John Sherman, of Ohio, spoke as follows of the financial troubles and the relations of the Republican party to them:

"I want to show you now that the Republican party, which has been so successful in all the measures it has adopted, has been able to do you a service which you can never estimate by any mode of estimation among men. It has furnished you a currency which has enabled you, during the panic of the last week or two to prefer your money to anything else that can be offered to you, either of houses, lands, or stocks. Here you are. Have you got a greenback in your pocket? Have you got a national bank note in your pocket? Are you afraid that either of them will break? [Cries of "No."] My countrymen, I have got very little currency on hand, but I will redeem every dollar of bank notes that you can show have been dishonored. We have now a currency so good that people do not want to give it away, do not want to deposit it, but keep it in the safest place they have got, with perfect certainty that it is good for the last cent it promises to pay. Why, my countrymen, there are old men around me who remember back to those times in 1837, 1847, and 1857—perhaps some can go back to 1816; my friend here, (over the way, says he can, in 1816. When a panic came in those old Democratic times what was the result? Every dollar of money in the pockets of the people was worse than useless rags. The money was the first thing to go, and it was not worth anything. Then, under the Democratic policy, the loss fell upon the people, fell upon the money in their pockets. Now, with this Republican currency, no man can possibly lose a dollar. Jay Cooke may fail, Clews may fail, every national bank may fail, and yet the greenback and the bank note are secured by bonds in the Treasury of the United States. They are secured by the people's money and the people's property, and all the wealth of the country must be exhausted before a man can lose a dollar on his greenbacks or a dollar on his bank notes. That is Republican money.

"Now, my fellow citizens, what was the cause of that panic? No more patriotic and no better men ever lived than Jay Cooke & Co., take them either morally, socially, or in any other way you choose. They are high-minded, patriotic men. They did service to their country in the time of war.—But they were too sanguine. They thought the Northern Pacific Railroad was a kind of railroad to have, I guess, [laughter,] and they wanted to build it through. Well, my friends, it was a bad investment, and the whole panic through which we have gone in the last week or two have grown out of the enterprise of bankers and business men in investing large sums of capital in unproductive railroad property. That is the whole secret of it.

"And yet during all this time these banks have not failed because they were insolvent. They failed because they could not realize currency upon their property; and now, when their statements are being exhibited, it is shown that all these banks have assets to pay every dollar of their indebtedness.—Well, now, my friends, when a panic comes—and panics will come at all times; they come in seasons of prosperity, they come in seasons of adversity, they come as the thief at night, still, quiet; the most sagacious man cannot tell when a panic will come; if he could it would be a great fortune for him;—when a panic comes it comes at once, and the people are alarmed; everybody suspects everybody else, and in those times there is no way whatever except to pause awhile, reflect, consider, be patient, careful, husband your resources, and then go on again. And that is precisely what is being done now.

A good story is told by a friend of Daniel Drew, which the news of his illness calls up. Remaining one evening late at the office, and having occasion to use the safe, he permitted the cashier to go home, remarking that he would close the safe and fixed the combination on the word "door." But when the cashier undertook to open the safe in the morning he found the lock refused to yield to the magic "door." He tried and tried again, but without success. Finally, happening to remember that Daniel's early education had been neglected, he attributed his ill luck to poor orthography. He therefore tried the lock upon "dore," Still no success, and then upon "doar," with no better fortune. Finally, becoming disgusted, he proceeded to the St. Nicholas, routed "Dan" out of his choicest morning nap, and as he stuck his nightcap out of the door this colloquy ensued: "Mr. Drew, I can't open the safe on 'door.' You must have concluded to change the word." "change the word! Nothin' o' the kind. I shut it on door." "Are you sure, sir?" "Sure, sir, you tarnal ape; of course I'm sure? Go back to your work, and don't come foolin' roun' here this time o' the mornin'. "Well, perhaps, Mr. Drew, I don't spell the word right. How did you spell it?" "Spell it! Any fool can spell door D-o-a-r-e, door, of course, sir." "If you can't sp

November 6th and 7th.

A TOPIC OF INTEREST.

While there is comparatively so little known by the average farmers of the country of the principles involved and the laws governing the various processes of the growth and maturing of their crops, there is no avocation followed by man where careful study of these laws afford so much of interest and profit. Take for instance, the growth of an acre of corn. Think of the immense expenditure of force to mature it. Consider the number of tons of water that have to be raised during the season from one to five feet from the earth, and also consider the large expenditure of chemical energy in the decompositions and recompositions, constantly going forward day and night. The carbon, most of it, has to be torn from its embrace with oxygen before it can be assimilated, and then the birth of new combinations is only accomplished through the agency of force.

Ah, how true it is that we live in a world of wonders, and the farmer certainly possesses extraordinary opportunities of observing the processes of nature in all their vastness and complexity. A new delight will be furnished him if he will study what science has unfolded regarding the laws and mysteries of the universe which so often excite his attention and wonder.

THE PROFITS OF RAISING GRASS.

We see it stated, and the statement is proven by the figures, that the hay crop this season of the eastern State of Maine is worth as much as the cotton crop of the southern State of Georgia. We have no doubt that it is true. The cultivation of the grasses is not attended with so much expense as many other crops and the hay crop is always a profitable one.

The idea has prevailed that the lands of Eastern North Carolina would not grow grass and clover. This is a mistake. We have tested it and so have many others, and we find not only that both can be raised here with great success but that the hay crop can be made the most remunerative of all others. We urge it upon the farmers to devote more attention to this matter. They will find it to pay.

The jury in the case of EDWARD S. STOKES, tried for the murder of JAMES FISK Jr. in New York, rendered a verdict of manslaughter in the third degree. He has been sentenced to four years hard labor. Judge Davis said: "In rendering this verdict, Stokes, the jury have exhausted and more than exhausted all mercy in your case. No appeal to this court can diminish the sentence from the highest penalty affixed by the statute in the degree in which you are convicted, and that is too light and apparently trifling as compared with the great crime you have committed." Stokes was surrounded and embraced by male relatives and hurried to the tombs.

Ex-President Andrew Johnson has been in Washington, where he was, as a matter of course, made much of, and serenaded, and invited to speak, and listened to, and cheered as though the memory of his official career were among the brightest episodes of our history. He spoke for nearly two hours from the balcony of his hotel, and touched upon nearly every subject which came into his head from his own former policy, to currency questions and Cæsarism.

Sharp frosts have occurred at Memphis which, in the natural course of things, must put a stop to the yellow fever, although hardly any improvement is thus far reported. Deaths still average one or two score per day, and this will probably continue until all who are actually down with the fever recover or die. Few if any new cases are anticipated. At Shreveport, the epidemic may be regarded as at an end, but the people are in a very destitute and despondent condition.

Men who refuse to take part in the primary meetings have no right to complain if incompetent and unworthy men are selected for office. The only way to keep rascals out of office is to nominate good men, and this can only be done by the prompt attendance of the honest men of the party at the primary meeting. The first duty of a citizen should be the nomination of good men; the next, their election and support.

Every mail brings us reports of the suspension of manufacturing establishments throughout the Northern and New England States. Thousands upon thousands are thus thrown out of employment at the very beginning of winter. We think we have "hard times" here, but it is no comparison to what is and will be experienced in many other sections.

A fountain of water cannot be purer than its source, so the laws which govern a community must partake of the character of those who framed them. If we demand good laws, we must elect good men to make them. If we desire their impartial execution, we must elect men who are above reproach; whose integrity has been tried, and whose sense of justice cannot be influenced by bribes or threats.

JOHN C. HEENAN, the prize fighter, died on the 25th ult., aged about 35 years. His career as a sporting man was somewhat extraordinary. Besides several fights in this country he had two in Europe. He is said to have been one of the most perfect specimens of physical manhood that ever entered the prize ring. It is believed that his severe training shortened his life.

New Books Periodicals, &c.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR NOVEMBER.—The first number of St. Nicholas has just been issued. Pictorially, it is one of the most beautiful magazines in the country, being enriched by designs from the pencils of Miss Hallock, Sol Eytinge, Miss Ledyard, Sheppard, Stephens, Bolles, Beard and others.

The reading matter is varied and bright. There are thirty-three articles, some for the very little ones, some for the oldest of young people, and some for every age between. We find in its broad, well-printed pages, poems by William Cullen Bryant, Celia Thaxter, Lucy Larcom, and others. There is a capital human-fairy sketch by Rebecca Harding Davis. Donald G. Mitchell contributes a characteristic article, entitled "Who Wrote the Arabian Nights?" and the first chapters of a serial story by Frank R. Stockton are given. A story by the conductor, Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, is sure to reach the heart of every child-reader—and the hearts of their fathers and mothers as well. Among the stories we find a charmingly-told account of a fairy's visit to a bee-hive, by Annie Moore; an exceedingly funny little story by Marfiaret Eytinge, and lively tales by Paul Fort and J. S. Stacy. Lucretia P. Hale tells the adventures of a doll, Noah Brooks has a capital article for boys, called "By the Sea," and Olive Thorne talks about a certain "Old-Fashioned Hat."

There are also interesting descriptions of zebras, passenger-pigeons, the curious inhabitants of the Farallone Islands and the Piute Indians, besides bright little "Jingles" and a whole page of large type for children with big eyes. We must not forget to mention as an admirable feature a short story in German for the benefit of youngsters who are learning that language. A similar French story is announced for the next number. Then "Jack-in-the-Pulpit" a curious fellow who is full of little bits of wit and wisdom, holds forth most entertainingly; and there are capital notices of juvenile books intended for those who will read the books, and a puzzle department that will certainly sharpen the wits of the youngsters.

Chief Justice Chase and His Legal Tender Decision.

Justice Clifford, on the recent occasion of paying official respect to the late Chief Justice Chase, said in his address: "Men find it easy to review others, but much more difficult to criticize and review their own acts; and yet, this is the very summit to which the upright judge should always be striving. Pride of opinion at such a time is too apt to predominate over a love of justice. But it was exactly under such circumstances that the late Chief Justice was called upon to review as a Judge one of the most striking and conspicuous of his acts as the guardian of the National Treasury at a moments when the fate of the nation so much depended upon its correct administration. Great success attended the financial scheme when it was adopted, and time had secured for it an extensive approval as the war of the rebellion was victoriously ended and the national wealth was rapidly increasing. Circumstances better calculated to foster pride of opinion cannot well be imagined; but the Chief Justice who had so creditably met the demands of duty in such a great variety of other responsible positions did not hesitate to supply his best powers to the task in reviewing the measure in question, and finally recorded his opinion that it was not justified by the Constitution. Judges and jurists may dissent from his final conclusion, and hold, as a majority of the Justices of this Court do, that he was right as Secretary of the Treasury; but every generous mind, as it seems to me, should honor the candor and self-control which inspired and induced such action."

Policy of the Treasury Department concerning Silver.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued an order to begin payments of silver at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and other cities where there are Assistant Treasurers or designated depositaries. In no case will more than $5 in silver be paid to one person the remainder of the check being payable in greenbacks. There is at present about $500,000 in silver coin in the possession of the Government, which, it is thought, will last some weeks, but the work of coining will still be continued though not more rapidly than heretofore. There is an abundance of silver bars in the country, and the capacity of the mints is sufficient for the coinage of about $15,000,000 per annum in silver, without interfering with other coinage.

A youth of the period, while reading a chapter of Geneses, paused to ask his mother whether the boys in the olden times used to do their sums on the ground. It was discovered that he had been reading the passage, "And the sons of men multiplied on the face of the earth."

Operations of the Mint.

Washington, Monday, Oct. 27, 1873.

According to reports made to Dr Linderman, Director of the Mint, the amount of gold which will be coined during this month, at the Philadelphia Mint, will reach $10,000,000. This, it is thought, will place the Treasury in a strong condition, so that it will only be necessary to coin $1,000,000 a month for several months. The Pacific coast being abundantly supplied with subsidiary silver coin, the mints at Carson City, Nevada, and San Francisco will be run on gold coin and trade dollars. The demand for the latter coin from China, but more particularly from Japan, is increasing largely. The Philadelphia Mint, which has been running to its full capacity on gold, was to day directed to change to silver, and will hereafter until further orders be occupied in the coinage of half dollars, quarters, and dimes at its full capacity of about $700,000 per month. The Government is in possession of silver bullion sufficient to run the Mint at this rate for several months to come. There are in the various Sub-Treasuries about $500,000 in subsidiary coin, which will begin to be paid out at once.

Evidence of Hard Times.

NEW YORK, November 3.—As an evidence of hard times in this city it is stated that the pawnbrokers are now doing four times the amount of business they were doing a few months ago, and owing to the scarcity of money they are giving less than one third the value of articles presented.

Tackle them beans."

Such men have a right to be rich. Mr. Wheelwright, of Newburyport, Massachusetts, died lately in London, leaving an estate of nearly a million dollars. He left 300,000 to his wife and daughter, which provides amply for them, 400,000 to their relatives, twenty-six in number, and 200,000 to establish a scientific school in the quaint old city of Newburyport. Moreover, his books show that in the last ten years he had quietly given away to various deserving objects about $60 0–000.

Willingford, Vt., has held a centennial celebration. There were processions and meetings, and speeches, and an exhibition of a great many ancient relics. There were six Bibles, 158, 143, 180, 149, 200, and 250 years old. There were spoons, and knee-buckles, and wedding-gowns, and porringers, and warming-pans and profile pictures, and samplers, and combs, and vankykes, and pin cushions, and muskets, and toasting forks, and many other things—all a hundred years old and over.

The Lincoln monument, which will consist of the central figure of Lincoln, surrounded by four groups, representative of the navy, the infantry, the cvalry and artilery, is designed ultimately for his tomb at Springfield Ill. The statue of Lincoln, modelled in Italy, has been cast in bronze in Chicopee, Mass., and had been paid for by the Lincoln Mounument Association. The national court of arms, to accompany it is also cast and its cost paid. The group representing the navy is now being modeled by Mead in Rome.

He will also exhibit some fine horses, among which is Prince of Wales, which took the premium for fast trotting at the late Weldon Fair. It appears that a widow lady took an orphan boy to raise, and when he arrived at the age of 18 she married him, she then being in her 55th year. Ten years ago they took an orphan girl to raise. This summer the old lady died, being 96 years of age, and in nine weeks after the old man married the girl they had raised, he being 59 years old, and she 18."

Louisiana, Mo., is a first-rate place to be imprisoned in. The Journal of that town reports that last Sunday, wanting probably to go to church, all the prisoners in the calaboose left. Their method of evacuating was peculiar. "They pressed open the iron bars of the window, and came down a ladder which some outsider had furnished them." Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage.

A depraved young woman of London has been 130 times in custody for drunkenness, and she has become such an adept in timing the successive stages of her intoxiation, that she generally succeeds in becomming insensible near the dividing line of two police districts, that is to say, at the fatherest, possible remove from a station. Of course it takes four men and a stretcher to convey her to a place of shelter, and four police beats are for the time being unprotected. This is a very ingenious way of making trouble for the police, and leaving the coast clear for masculine accomplices to do a little uninterrupted housebreaking.

The Irrigation Convention recently held at Denver, Colorado, passed resolutions advocating the introduction of a general and complete system of irrigation, and also the introduction of a general, permanent, and rational plan of forest culture; that the Homestead laws be amended so as to allow any person over the age of twenty-one years to acquire a perfect title to 160 acres of land in the course of two years, provided he proves by responsible neighbors that he has erected a dwelling house, fenced in and broken at least five acres of land, and raised a crop; that one-fourth of the public domain be set apart for permanent forest culture, and that no timber on mountain tops, ridges, or slopes shall be cut for the present.

On Friday afternoon Customs Inspector Chapman, at Castle Garden, notice that one of the steerage passengers, a woman, who was stepping ashore, had a very peculiar and bulky form and embarrassed gait. She was taken by his order into the femail searcher's room, when it was discovered that under her dress was concealed a large amount of jewelry, comprising watches and trinkets. The underclothing, it is alleged, with its appurtenances, weighed upwards of one hundred pounds. Her luggage was found to be filled with dutiable goods, and was accordingly seized. A colleague of hers in the smuggling enterprize was also arrested, and turned out to be her nephew—viz., Matthew Weidemann, who does business at Philadelphia and is a resident there. The aunt, who also dwells in the City of Brotherly Love, said her name was Catharine Jasper. They offered Customs Officer Chapman a bribe of $100 after their arrest to pass them inside the Castle Garden rotunda. The officer took the money, and instead of pocketing it paid it into the custom-house last night. The amount of smuggled goods captured is valued at $6,000.—New York Herald, 3rd.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1874—SEVENTH YEAR.

THE ALDINE,

An illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature and a collection of pictures; the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with a similar class, THE ALDINE is an unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in prices or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quality of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facilities of production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at the trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

Premium for 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in The White Mountains, New Ham shire; the other gives The Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and colouring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12 x 16) and appearance exact the similies of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial, over the signatnre of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1873.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & Co.

Gentlemen:—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American printer, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire and neither are they any worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprize that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14 x 20 inches representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Chromos free.

For 50 cents extra, the chromos will be sent mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtained only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscription must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the facsimile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

Canvassers Wanted.

Any person wishing to act permanently as a local canvasser will receive full and prompt information by applying to

OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor R. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek, "KATHAIRO," signifying to cleanse, purify, regenerate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates Dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME IN QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only Fifty Cents per Bottle.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

BY HIS EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Executive Department,
Raleigh, Oct. 22, 1873.

WHEREAS, The people of North Carolina have been abundantly blessed during the past year, and the earth hath yielded bounteously of all the products of its soil, so that the garners of the husbandman are filled to overflowing; and the industrious mechanic has realized a rich reward from his labor, and every class of our population has prospered in all laudable enterprise; and WHEREAS, above all, fraternal feelings and good will have in a great measure been restored in our midst, and no plague, pestilence or famine, has visited our State. Now therefore, as it becomes us, a grateful people, to render thanks to Almighty God for these and numberless other blessings showed upon us in His great mercy; I, Tod R. Caldwell, Governor of North Carolina, in obedience to law and in conformity with an honored precedent, do appoint and set apart as a day of public Thanksgiving throughout the State; and I do earnestly invite the clergy of every denomination to open their respective houses of worship on said day and to exhort their congregations to humble themselves before the throne of the ever-living God, and render unto Him praises which are justly due, invoking for themselves, their State and their whole country, His guidance and protection throughout all time to come.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1873,

"O come, let us sing unto the Lord, let us make a joyful noise to the Rock of our salvation."

"Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms."

VISITORS ATTENDING THE FAIR.—The Albemarle Steam Transportation Company will transport all articles for exhibition at the "Albemarle Agricultural Society" at Elizabeth City, free of charge. Passengers attending the Fair will only be charged one way. Passage—the Fair takes place on November 6th and 7th.

Mr. ALBERTSON is holding Court in Gates county this week.

We see it stated that the Governor of Ohio, Hon. WM. ALLEN, is a native of Chowan county, this State.

Mr. F. D. BUNNELL has arrived with his splendid stock, and will exhibit it next week at the Fair.

The latest quotations from New York are: Gold 108¾; Cotton Fifteen. At Norfolk, Cotton is quoted at 13¾c.

Remember that Gen. RANSOM M. FINNEY will speak on the Fair Grounds on Friday next, at 11 o'clock A. M.

The Legislature of Gov. CALDWELL, appointed Joseph D. MYERS, of Washington, a Notary Public for Beaufort county.

Through oversight we omitted to notice the death of Mrs. POOR, wife of Hon. P. POOR, United States Senator from this State. The sad event occurred in Washington about a month ago. Mrs. POOR had long been an invalid.

Our time having been absorbed last week in perfecting the arrangements for the Fair we have been unable to attend, as is our paper, to the usual attention to our paper, and hence have been obliged to make, as we call upon that ever assistant—

Mr. THOMPSON, Esq., has left a specimen of apples he has raised from his old farm in Tompkins county, New York. They are the largest we have seen for a long while. We will have some of them at the Fair to-morrow.

The Commissioners of Camden county, at their meeting on Monday, passed an order submitting the question to the people of subscribing Twenty Thousand Dollars to the capital stock of the Atlantic Coast Railway. The election is to take place on the 1st Thursday of December.

We noticed a flock of wild geese passing southward the other day, which indicates that the northern regions are getting rather frosty for them. It seems to be rather early in the season for them to emigrate, but then they are generally apt to consult their own comfort rather than dates.

The Fair Grounds of the "Albemarle Agricultural Society" at this place are splendidly located and will compare in beauty with any in the state. The track is equal to the best—is one our people may justly feel proud of. The road from the City to the Grounds have been widened and improved so as to make it a pleasant drive.

Printer's motto—deal with those who deal with you—and those only. That is to say, when a man advertises in your paper and you want to buy anything in his line, always give him preference over those who don't advertise.

There is both sense and justice in the above. We always patronize the one business men who patronize us, and especially those who show public spirit enough to encourage and help sustain their local newspaper, for in men say what they will, a well conducted press does more for a town and community than any other agency.

The improvements made on Shepard Street and Factory Avenue are attracting attention and calling forth universal commendation. They were long needed and as made are permanent—will not require any expense for years. By another year there are other improvements that should be made swamps drained, low places filled up and a few streets opened. The drainage and evaporation that will result from these will tell in the improved sanitary condition of our city as well as in the beauty of its general appearance. Let the good work go on.

Regardless of our repeated warnings and protests too many of our farmers repeated the mistake of former years in devoting too much attention to a single crop and too little to others. This year a larger area than usual was planted in cotton and a smaller area in corn. It happens that the price of cotton is ruinously down while the price of corn is looking up. We regret that this is so for it isn't by any means the farmers alone who suffer from their unwise action. Whenever they fail to receive a paying price for their products—the results of their summers work—we all feel it. A scarcity of money with them makes a general scarcity among all classes.

Mr. C. E. COBB has succeeded in securing a most lucrative appointment for one of our most intelligent and deserving colored men, viz. JOSEPH P. WEAVER, who is now conducting a school in Hertford county.

We learn that on Saturday week, near Far Creek, in Hyde county, WILSON H. LUCAS shot and killed WM. BALLANCE, his wife's step-father. The murder was the result of a dispute about the use of a road owned partly by BALLANCE which he had forbidden LUCAS to use. LUCAS' team was passing into the road in dispute and BALLANCE warned him back, threatening to cut his horses if he proceeded, when LUCAS raised his gun and fired, killing BALLANCE almost instantly, the shot entering the abdomen. LUCAS was a member of the Legislature '71–'72, and a popular man in the county prior to this terrible act. His victim was a quiet, inoffensive man, and highly respected by his neighbors. LUCAS has been arrested and was taken to Washington before Judge MOORE, who was holding court at that place.

Some sententious fellow the other day suggested that the Committee on Premiums ought to have offered a hand-some one for the man who could tell the most plausible lie. He said he knew of several parties who certainly ought to compete as they could indulge in that line and get out of it better than most people. But as the Committee aforesaid are not disposed to do anything that would countenance, much less tempt to an increase of the natural disposition to prevaricate, they wisely decided to do no such a thing. They might have offered one to the man who never told a lie, but then the satisfying evidence might have been hard to get, for ever since the days of the "boy with his little hatchet" there have been mighty few who, at some period of their lives, have not made statements tinctured more or less with elongation.

We announced in a previous issue that the store of JACOB SALOMONSKY & Co., of this place was burglariously entered on the night of the 23th inst and several hundred dollars worth of Dry Goods and Clothing stolen. Diligent efforts was made to detect the thieves which led to the discovery of a portion of the property at a house occupied by a colored woman, the sister of one LEONIDAS TILLETT. The latter kept himself secreted in the woods up to Wednesday last when becoming, as he said, "tired of suffering from cold and hunger," he sent word to Mr. SALOMONSKY that on condition that he would not shoot him he would make a confession that would reveal the names of the burglars and lead to the recovery of the goods. Mr. SALOMONSKY met him that night by appointment in an open lot, and on the statement made Mr. JOE STANLEY, of this place, was arrested. The trial came off in the Court House on Thursday, before GEO. W. COBB Esq. The case created more than usual interest, a number of lawyers were employed and the Court room was crowded. The first witness was Mr. SALOMONSKY who testified to the facts stated above. LEONIDAS TILLETT testified that he was on his way home from the colored Baptist Church about one o'clock on the night of the robbery, which was a dark and stormy one. As he approached SALOMONSKY's store he saw two men taking goods from the pavement and putting them into sacks. He recognized the men as JOE STANLEY and a colored man named JAMES DIGGINS. He also saw two other colored men lurking near, whom he did not recognize. STANLEY and DIGGINS offered to divide the booty with him if he would not divulge their guilt. HUGH CALE and CHARLES MCDONALD testified that TILLET made the same statement to them with the addition that he accepted the offer of STANLEY and DIGGINS to divide with him and that he went with them, and the three together secreted the goods in his sister's house where he lives. The Justice, having an intimation that there was a probability of the speedy arrest of DIGGINS, remanded the prisoners to jail, reserving a decision until hearing all the evidence. On Friday last DIGGINS was arrested near Woodville and had a hearing that night. The only evidence against both parties was that of TILLETT. The defense claimed that it ought not to be believed, that he had sworn falsely about being at Church on the night of the burglary as they proved by the sexton and others that there were no services in the colored Baptist Church that night. The case was adjourned over 'til yesterday.

—At the hearing on Tuesday, after able argument on both sides by eminent counsel the Justice committed TILLETT to jail and admitted STANLEY and DIGGINS to bail of $500.00 each for their appearance at Court. They failed to obtain bail and were placed in prison.

NATURAL DECAY—PROTECTED THE SYSTEM.—The human body is a machine, and therefore cannot run forever, like a watch or a sewing machine; it will last much longer if properly regulated and duly repaired, than if no pains were taken to keep it in order. The great object of every one who desires a good healthy constitution should be to put his body in a condition to withstand the influences by which it is surrounded; and which, if not met or counteracted, will undermine the health, and bring on premature decay. Of all the preparations known to the world, for the purpose of fortifying the human system against the attacks of disease, in every quarter where the climate is subject to sudden changes, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the most effectual. Fever and ague, bilious fevers, dysentery, rheumatism, and all diseases originating in the liver, kidneys, or stomach, are speedily conquered by this powerful vegetable invigorant, which is also a most reliable remedy for dyspepsia, nervousness, biliousness, constipation, and general debility. Fever and ague is always a disease of peculiar obstinacy, especially in weak, susceptible organizations. Given the more vigorous are apt to be in collision with the deleterious gases produced by vegetable decay, the more frequently they are prostrated by the fever. The shaking period of the disease is generally followed by that of burning heat, and the patient is then in a condition to be greatly benefited by the use of this genial tonic and alterative. Sold by druggists and dealers generally.

Beware of Counterfeits!

JOB MOSES' SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS

Are extensively counterfeited. Dishonest Druggists are endeavoring to sell the counterfeits to their customers. Job Moses on each package. The genuine have the name of Job Moses on each package. All other are worthless imitations. All other are worthless imitations. All of those GENUINE Pills are unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. They moderate all excesses, and cure all suppression of the menses, whether arising from cold, inflammation, or disease. In all cases of Hysteria and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, they will effect a cure when all other means have failed, and although very powerful, contain nothing hurtful to the most delicate constitution.

Circular in English German and French around each bottle gives full direction and advice.

The GENUINE Pills are sold at most druggists, but if your druggist cannot supply the GENUINE, do not be persuaded to accept any other, but write your order, enclosing $1 (One Dollar) to the sole proprietor, Job Moses, 19 Cortlandt Street, New York, and a call for the package at express office at which you will find the genuine Pills securely sealed up, and a bottle of the GENUINE Pills accurately packed in plain wrappers will be sent by return express.

Exclusive Cotton Growing.

In defending the people of the cotton-growing States against the charge of improvidence brought against them by writers who advocate a diversified agriculture, a correspondent of the Rural Carolinian says he has known several instances where a farmer has purchased his farm, at pretty fair prices, too, and paid for it out of the net profits of a single exclusive cotton crop, and that the result could have been attained by no other product known to our soil. The writer says that he has himself realized net profits of $50 per acre from cotton, and that some of his neighbors have done the same on land, which, if planted in corn, wheat or oats, would not have exceeded, with the same manure, $25 or $30.—Prairie Farmer.

Yes, says the Rural Alabamian, and for every one such case as mentioned by the correspondent aforesaid, we can name 100 planters, who—taking last year as an illustration—after dividing among the laborers their portion of the crop, exhausted all the proceeds in paying off debts incurred for provisions and other necessaries for making the crop—leaving them, last spring, without a dollar in their pockets. In order to make a crop this season, they were compelled to mortgage it in advance, to buy provisions for their hands, feed for their horses and mules, bagging and rope for packing, &c., with heavy commissions to their merchants in the bargain. In one single county in this State, it is said there are over a thousand of these mortgages already recorded. We don't think there is much money in that kind of farming.

We can easily understand why Western men, on whom, by the all cotton system, the South is made dependent for provision, are opposed to a "a diversified agriculture" in the South, but how a southern man, with the experience of the last seven years before him, can oppose it, passes our comprehension.

Agricultural Items.

Iowa has 1,500,000 pigs ready for turning into pork this winter.

The Sacramento (Cal.) beet sugar factory this year will make 8,000 barrels of sugar, valued at over $260,000.

Fifty vessels laden with grain, valued at $3,500,000, have been dispatched this year from California for Europe, and a dozen more are taking cargo.

Portland Indiana, has a grain association which has resulted very beneficially to the farmers, adding ten cents a bushel to the price of every bushel marketed. It is to be made a permanent joint stock arrangement.

The September report of agriculture indicates that the yield of maize will be somewhat lower than last year. The average appears to be four per cent. less than in 1872, making a reduction of more than a million acres, mostly in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, nearly two thirds of a million being in Illinois.

The crop of Maryland tobacco in 1872, which is now sent to market, was larger than in any year since 1854, and the crop of Ohio was also large, being estimated at about 22,000 hogsheads. The Maryland crop this season will fall off one half, and consequently the shipment from the State next year will be light.

Soap Wash for Fruit Trees.

The beneficial influence of a weak alkali washed upon the bark of fruit trees is of long standing acknowledgment. Its action is an expansion of the pres, while at the same time it is destructive of all animal life, sporadic or otherwise. Writers or theorists differ as to the best time to apply it; but we have always found that if good common sense be used in preparing it, the time of application is always good. And now for the preparation. If you use purchased potash, reduce it so that you can bear your finger in it half a minute or more without a tingling or sore sensation. If you can obtain good soft soap from the refuse grease and lye of ashes saved up dry, then take it and reduce it (the soap) down, not to suds, but so that it will not be ropy when used by a soft whitewash brush. Use it freely, and it matters not materially just when, but say now, and any time most convenient until the 1st of July; but after that time it is perhaps better to wait till the next year.—American Farm Journal.

Dry Earth for Bedding.

E. Gildings, of Illinois, saves the manure, and adds to the comfort of his stock by using dry earth in the stables. To do this he fills a stall or large bin in his stables in dry weather, with pulverized clay, road scrapings or common soil. With this he covers the floor of each stall three inches deep, and then places the litter for the animal's bedding on it; by this means all the urine will be absorbed, and its wealth of nitrogen saved, and such is the absorbing power of dried earth, that one three-inch flooring will not be so thoroughly saturated in a long time as to require replacing. He says his experiment requires but one bin of pulverized earth to absorb the urine of ten or twelve cattle during the stabling season; and that two men with a team filled the bin in one day. One ton of the saturated earth is worth more than the same weigh of fresh-saved dung. The aggregate amount of plant food thus saved from the stable, is fully double, and in much better condition for use.

The Temper of Bulls.

An English writer on Short Horns says:

"As the temper of no animal is more uncertain than that of the bull, he should be approached with caution, but without fear. The same man should attend to him as much as possible; and though the bull should usually lie loose, he should be tied up at certain times, and accustomed to be handled by the master or by strangers, as well as by his attendant. Where it is not convenient for bulls to run out with the cows, exercise must be given them in other ways. A strong fenced yard adjoining the bull's shed, into which he can be turned during the day, is very essential; besides which, the bull will be all the better if led out for an hour four or five days in the week. A bull constantly chained up, is as likely to turn savage as a yard dog similarly treated.

A writer in a foreign medical journal says that when he was severely stung about the head by wasps a single application of lime water gave him instant and permant relief, and that subsequent trials of this readily available cure were attended with the same happy results.

Telegrams from London announces that the £25,000 withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance yesterday is to be shipped to America. The backs on the continent of Europe have raised their rate of discount.

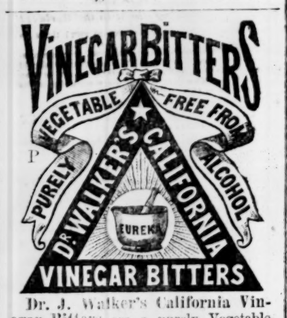
VINEGAR BITTERS



Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use VINEGAR BITTERS as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants in every form.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where: and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Norfolk, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A farm of 700 acres in Pasquotank County 10 miles from town, with fine two story dwelling, large barn, kitchen and other outhouses; as also, two other dwellings, barns and other houses at different points ou the farm. This farm is all cleared but 150 acres, is free from swamps and other waste land, and is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, &c. The price is 14,000 in easy payments.

A farm of 500 acres in Pasquotank County, 6 miles from town, and one mile from the River, with good new dwelling built in modern style, barn, stables, four tenant houses scattered over the farm, fine water, &c. This farm is situated on the most public road in the County, has 300 acres cleared and balance in splendid pine, oak, cypress, maple, sweet gum, and other valuable timber. It is peculiarly adapted to raising cotton, $50 per acre, net, having been realized on a part of it this year in cotton. It also grows corn, wheat, oats, and other crops well. Price $12,000 in easy payments.

A valuable vacant lot in the town of E. City containing a half square, on the principal street in the town immediately opposite Court House quare. Has an iron fence in front, fine shrubbery, and is near the large new Hotel justerected, Price $2,000 in easy payments.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Three farms—one of 100 acres, one of 80 acres and one of 190 acres, within two miles of town, mostly cleared land. Price $20 per acre for each tract—payments on easy terms. Also many other valuable farms and town lots too numerous to mention.

BANKRUPTCY.

THE FIFTY PER CENT. CLAUSE.

As there seems to be a misunderstanding in regard to the effect of the provision of the Bankrupt Act, commonly called the 50 per cent clause, we publish the following extract from the Act:

The second clause of the thirty-third section as amended by the Act of July 27, 1868, reads "that no discharge shall be granted to any person whose assets shall not be equal to fifty per cent. of the claims proved against his estate, by which he shall be liable as the principal debtor, unless the assent in writing of a majority in number and value of his creditors who shall have proved their claims, shall in such case at or before the time of hearing the application for discharge.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled—that the proviso of the second clause of the thirty-third section of said act as amended by the first section of said act in amendment thereof, approved June 22, 1868, shall not apply to those debts from which the bankrupt seeks a discharge which were contracted prior to January 1st, 1869.

The true meaning is not that a bankrupt must be able to pay fifty per cent of his debts, before he can obtain a discharge as many believe; but that his estate, in the hands of his assignee, at the time of the discharge must be equal, to fifty per cent. of the amount of the debts.

1. That he owes as principal;
2. That have been proved against him as a debt in bankruptcy; and
3. That he has contracted since the 1st day of December, 1868.

Or, if a majority in number and value of those who have proved their debts, or if the bankrupt is indebted as principal debtor contracted subsequent to Dec., 31, 1868, assent in writing to the discharge—such discharge may be discharged forever from all his debts.

If a debtor, owing three thousand dollars principal, twenty-five hundred of which indebtedness was contracted prior to January 1, 1869, and five hundred subsequent to that time files his petition in bankruptcy, and his creditors prove against him, and their debts and assets in the hands of the assignee, the bankrupt will be entitled to a discharge, but it will be a bar only to the debts contracted prior to January 1, 1869.—If no creditors prove, the discharge will be good against all debts, whether contracted before or after January 1, 1869.

The practical effect in bankruptcy cases generally is, that creditors fail to prove their debts, finding it ordinarily unprofitable. The bankrupt, in a large majority of instances, being relieved of the trouble and expense of making a settlement without receiving any return. The fifty per cent. bugbear, therefore when viewed in the light of the law and common-sense, disappears.

EXEMPTIONS IN BANKRUPTCY

The exemptions under the 14th section of the Bankrupt Act are as follows:

1. Household and Kitchen furniture to the amount not exceeding $500,00
2. Wearing apparel of Bankrupt and family.
3. Uniform, &c., if he has been connected with the United States Army.

In laying off the Exemptions in the Districts, the Assignees are ordered to govern and abide by, any assignment of a homestead which has been made by a Sheriff under the State laws; or which has been assigned by the application of a debtor in accordance with the laws of North Carolina. Where no such assignment or homestead has been made, the assignee will proceed to set apart such homestead, and make the other exemptions according to the rules of the bankrupt Court.

The report of such exemptions when made by the assignee can be excepted to by the bankrupt or by any creditor, within twenty days after the allotment of such exempt property.

EFFECT OF THE DISCHARGE IN BANKRUPTCY UPON JUDGMENT

It is the opinion of many of our lawyers that the discharge in bankruptcy, does not make judgment debts existing against the bankrupt at the time of filing his petition, and that therefore the liens existing by virtue of such judgments, upon homesteads are wiped out and cannot afterwards be enforced. It is said that the practical effect of the discharge will be to leave a man, whose homestead was encumbered by judgment, free from all his debts, of a quasi nature, and the owner in fee simple of his homestead.

Again many lawyers, equally prominent in the profession, are of opinion that such will not be the effect of the discharge. That the homestead, will still be liable under the judgments and that when it determines under the State laws, the judgment creditor may enforce his lien and collect his debts.

To place this matter beyound doubt, the following rule has been adopted for the benefit of petitioners who are not willing to run any risk.

That the petitioning debtor may file his petition in the District Court, addressed to Judge Geo. W. Brooks, asking that the judgments of creditor, or creditors, show cause why the liens existing in pursuance of their judgments should not be adjusted by said court, and their proper value ascertain and fixed, and the amount thereof so ascertained, to be made the true value of such lien or liens by the decree or judgment of said District Court, in bankruptcy.
